

Ceremonies.... to Farewell

Funerals | Celebration of life | Memorials

“ No person is ever truly lost or gone once they have been in our life and loved us, as we have loved them. ”

Leslie Silko

I believe each life is unique and each passing needs to be honoured in a way which uniquely reflects that life, and the values and beliefs of those remaining.

However you choose to honour the life of your loved one, I will listen to you closely and consult with you throughout the creation of the ceremony, helping you to put your memories and feelings into words.

My professional background

I am a qualified social worker who has worked for many years in the health system specialising in loss and grief. I have -

- Experience in helping families coping with loss across the whole life cycle from new born to the elderly
- Completed training as a funeral celebrant and I am a member of the Professional Celebrants Association
- Skill and experience in public speaking and have won awards in Toastmasters.

My commitment to you is to provide a...

- Compassionate caring approach
- Well organised funeral service, with attention to the details that are important to you
- Calm and poised professional delivery of the eulogy and readings.

Additional services include

- Photographic journey incorporated into the service
- Memory journal of your loved one's life incorporating the service
- Development and production of "Order of Service" brochure.

In summary, you can rest assured that on the day of the ceremony you can focus on fare-welling your loved one, whilst I coordinate and present the ceremony in a calm, professional, warm and respectful manner- a funeral service which uniquely reflects the life of your loved one.

What others have said...

“ Sherryl wrote the eulogy and spoke at my mother in law's funeral – I was impressed with her capacity to capture the very essence of the person- she spoke clearly and calmly but with feeling. My stepson said he found out things about his grandmother that he did not know – it was a very moving, beautiful ceremony and I have had feedback from friends who said it was the best funeral they had ever been to. ”
